

Please do not change the rules to permit cell phone use on aircraft even if there is little evidence that the transmissions interfere with aircraft guidance. Do we know for a fact that 30 cell phones in use at one time won't interfere with navigation? The space on a plane is simply too confining to have multiple passengers all chatting incessantly. That will surely become a nightmare for flight attendants trying to mediate passenger complaints and make no mistake - there will be passenger conflicts over this. I've been on planes recently where passengers had to be repeatedly told to end their call and turn off their cell - I can just imagine what it will be like if you approve cell use. Please - DO NOT!!!
